

- Be done by August ending
- Not too complicated

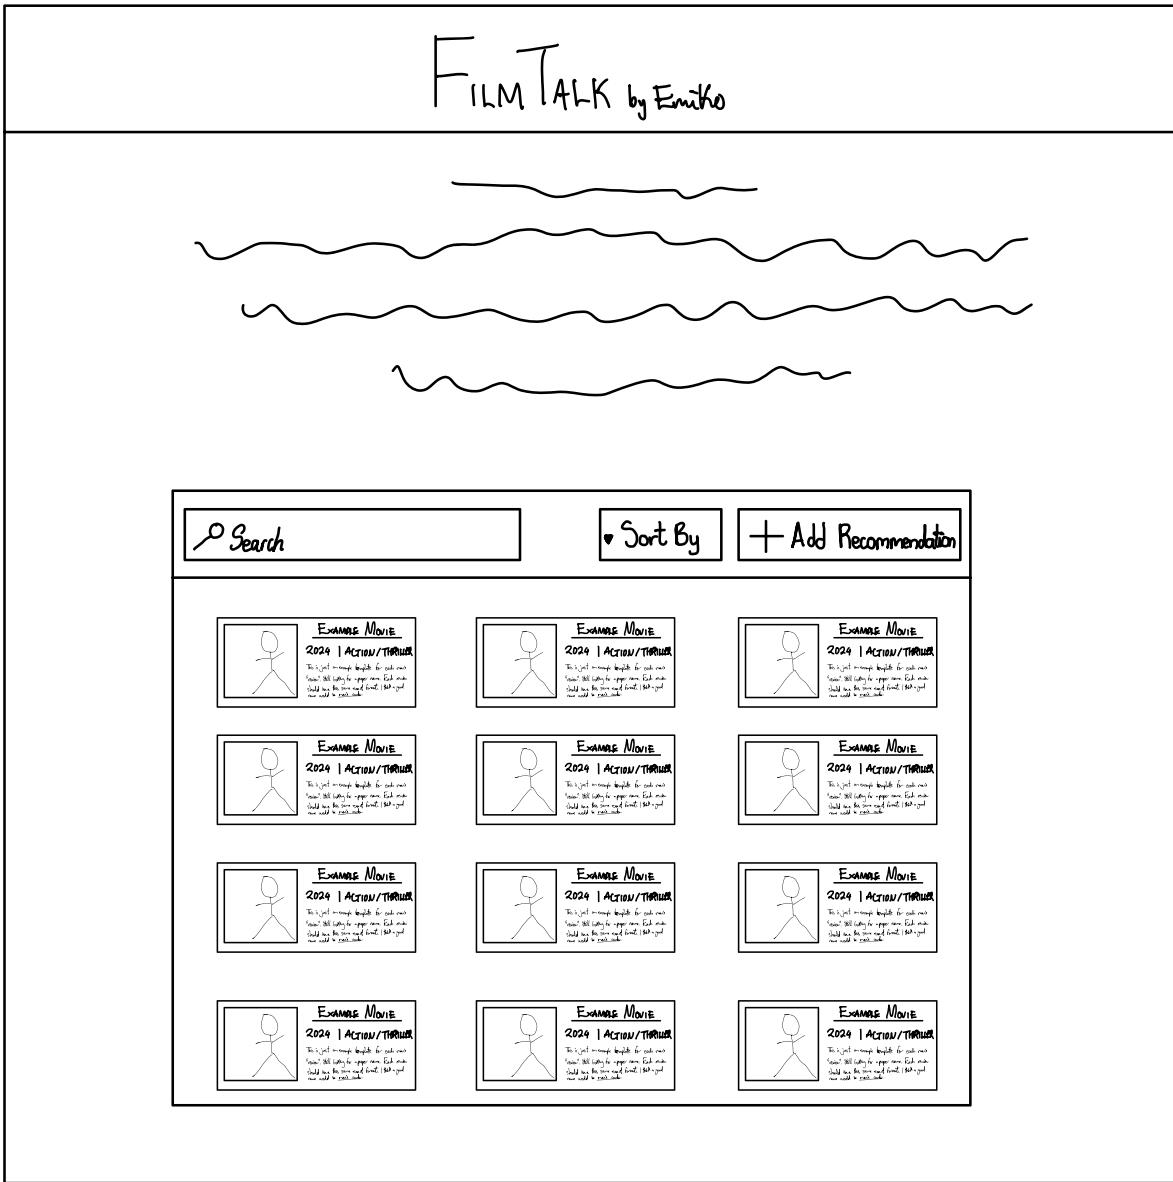

Stuff to Add

- Each movie "review" is in its own box that consists of an image, the title, year released, genre, and lastly my personal remarks.

- Need a function to create each movie card
- Remember to make a rating system (with a light blue star next to the rating) $\star 9.8/10$

Layout

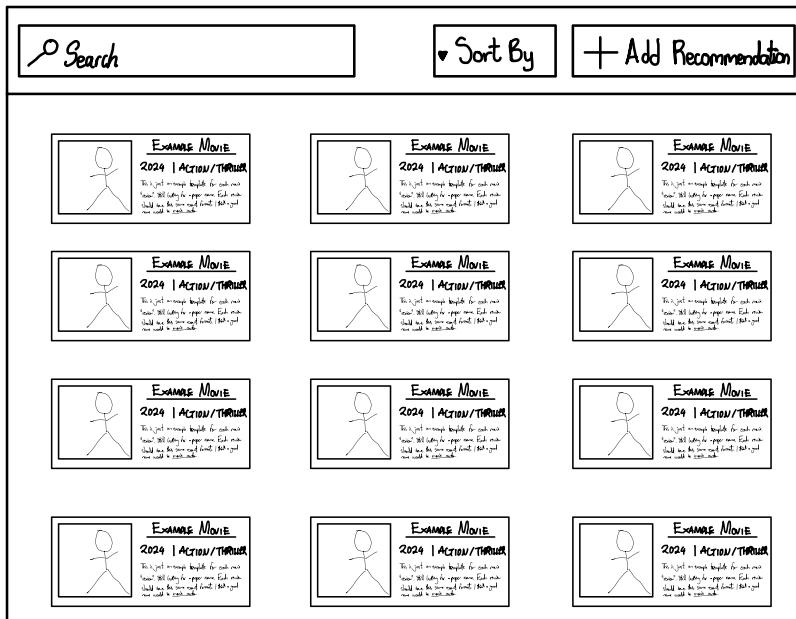

- for search function, maybe turn the display for the "movie-card" class list off and turn on the id for that specific movie card, that is, assuming the movie that was searched for exists. Each movie card has a general class list called "movie-card", and a specific id which is just the movie name. → make the search function LIVE so the movie card feed changes as they type.
- If id contains input, turn general display off, turn movie display on...
- Make it so that there is a light blue highlight once you hover over every movie card.

- Put an i screen as well to let people know how to use the site.
- Display an avatar icon from tailwind and the person's username next to it
 - Have to add event listener for all the options in the filter dropdown list.

Flow

Filter Options:

Year released (earliest to latest)

Year released (latest to earliest)

Romance

Thriller

Action

Comedy

Horror

Black Voices

- Maybe implement a loader icon to display for a little bit while the genre is being changed.
- Use a useState for the filter value, such that when a filter option is clicked, the value of the filter is changed (`setFilter("genre")`).
- Add a useEffect maybe so that once it is changed, a reset filter button appears and if it is clicked, the value of filter is changed back to is being. In the next effect, if filter = "", get all movies and display blocks. If filter = "romance" get all movies and display none, then get all movies with genre = romance and display blocks.

- Submit button in the modal will check to ensure valid input in each field
- Maybe make it so people can edit their own recommendations?
